An act to amend Sections 2909 and 2910 of, and to add Section 2909.5 to, the Business and Professions Code, relating to psychologists.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

AB 705, as amended, Eggman. Psychologists: licensure exemption.

The Psychology Licensing Law provides for the licensure and regulation of psychologists by the Board of Psychology and makes a violation of its provisions a misdemeanor. Existing law prohibits a person from engaging in the practice of psychology or representing himself or herself to be a psychologist without a license, except as specified. Existing law provides that a person, including, but not limited to, a person who holds a valid and current credential as a school psychologist issued by the State Department of Education, is not restricted or prevented from conducting activities of a psychological nature or the use of the official title of his or her position, provided that person is performing those activities as part of the duties for which he or she was employed, is performing those activities solely within the confines of or under the jurisdiction of the organization in which he or she is employed, and does not offer to render or render psychological services, as specified, to the public for a fee over and above the salary he or she receives for the performance of his or her official duties with the organization.

This bill would revise and recast those provisions, and specify that those persons are not restricted or prevented from conducting activities of a psychological nature or using the official title of their position provided that they do not offer to render psychological services, as specified.

Existing law also provides that the Psychology Licensing Law does not restrict or prevent activities of a psychological nature on the part of a person who is a salaried employee of an accredited or approved academic institution, public school, or governmental agency, provided that, among other things, the person does not provide direct health or mental health services.

This bill would instead provide that the law does not restrict the practice of psychology on the part of a person who is a salaried employee of an accredited or approved academic institution, public school, or governmental agency, and would delete the prohibition on providing direct health or mental health services. The bill would additionally require an employee of an accredited or approved academic institution, public school, or governmental agency to primarily be gaining the supervised professional experience required for licensure, as specified, in order to practice psychology without a license. The bill would exempt those persons from licensure for no more than 5 years from the date of employment.

Vote: majority. Appropriation: no. Fiscal committee: yes.
State-mandated local program: no.
